The GTA is full of unique and awesome cities, but let's be real every city has their quirks and charms. I personally grew up in Burlington and have fully come to terms with the fact that it's a golf enthusiasts playground filled with old people and black escalades.

I've asked people from all over the GTA to give me brutally honest descriptions that sum up each other hometowns, and this is what I got.

So, did your hometown make this list?

Ajax

Almost Pickering but with young parents driving white SUVs.

Carling

I thought Carling was a beer?

Oshawa

Everyone works at GM or knows somebody who does.

Pickering

Proof that scene kids are still alive and well.

Uxbridge

Farms, fields, and a lot of people who love Boots and Hearts.

Whitby

The Go Train stop that lets you know that you're almost at Pickering.

Burlington

This is probably where your grandparents live.

Hamilton

A clusterfvck of hipsters and people who like to wear Tapout hoodies.

Milton

You work(ed) at Glen Eden and you used to think it was cool to wear a shoelace belt.

Oakville

"My daddy is a lawyer, and I love my private school."

Brampton

You've probably been here for jury duty.

Caledon

Either smells like bonfires or manure, never anything in between.

Mississauga

Almost Toronto, but not nearly cool enough.

Aurora

Where finding something to do is an issue, but money isn't.

East Gwillimbury

Where a Bass Pro hat and a flannel are staple items in your wardrobe.

King City

If Farmville were real.

Markham

If Markham were an Olsen sister, she would be the forgotten and underrated Elizabeth.

Newmarket

Full of teens that constantly loiter everywhere and light things on fire.

Richmond Hill

The love child of Aurora and Markham.

Vaughan

People only come here for Wonderland and Bass Pro Shop.

Mono
